THE STORE THAT SELLS THE FACE.

Summer Goods Sale.
SUMMER THINGS MUST GO.
A Sale of Shirt Waists.

HERE are some attractive wares that will prove comfort these hot days at little cost. This offering of fresh Summer Waists is one of the best planks of the season. They are particularly desirable and handsome—the sort you'd be strongly tempted to buy at regular price. But the point that will appeal most to the watchful shopper is, the price is only a little more than half their real worth. Partial lists follow.

BURLINGTON TIMES.

WALL STREET TUESDAY.

By Tepehron in The Press.

New York, July 9, 1911.—The Wall street market opened slightly higher, but shortly after closing, the brokers swept the floor in order to close out of the market. The sale and purchase movement was continued and the lower prices passed from the market at a faster rate than the buying. The amount of the buying and selling was something like the amount of the buying and selling. The amount of the buying and selling was something like the amount of the buying and selling. The amount of the buying and selling was something like the amount of the buying and selling.

CORNOC OF TENNESSEE

HORSE SHOW NEWS AT THE GARDENS OF CARMEL.

By Mrs. George A. Hope.

The horses and ponies of the Cornock of Tennessee stud farm, located in Sumner County, are well known for their beauty and grace. The farm is owned by Mr. Henry C. Cornock, a well-respected member of the horse-racing community. The Cornocks have been breeders of Tennessee Walking Horses for over 50 years, and their farm is considered one of the best in the country.

To save the colors have your laundress use only Ivory Soap; furnish it yourself, if necessary, to make certain that she does use it. A quarter's worth of pure soap will do a lot of washing and may save from ruin the coloring of more than one fine garment.

LITTLETON, July 4, 1863.

The present is a time for all Americans to act on the noblest principles of our country. Our flag must be preserved, and it must be raised high above all other nations. Our flag is a symbol of our国家’s strength and our freedom. We must not allow it to fall into the hands of our enemies. We must stand together and fight for our freedom.
